Case No.:

9 v.

10 Theodore Eisenloffel,
 11 et al.,

12 Defendants

Objection to (ECF #183)
 motion to stay

13 Comes now Plaintiff, Sankana Graham, hereby submits an 14 objection, for the record to ECF #183. As mentioned in 15 ECF #184, 186, etc there has been complications with HDSP law
 16 library due to their interest in the litigation. (ECF 183, 185) plaintiff
 17 did not receive until today further bolstering the point. The objection
 18 is made pursuant to LR IB 3-1(a)

19 Defense counsel is relying on technicalities, plaintiff's
 20 confusion, and time to bring all attention to anything other
 21 than actions factually made by defendant's. Also see ECF 182
 22 no minutes were attached to efile. The newspaper article is 23 one of many that establishes admissible pattern in this court's 24 jurisdiction.

25 Frankly Defense counsel is strategizing and should be compelled 26 to respond to motion for summary judgement^① or settle which 27 is far too lenient considering the facts.

3 ① Regardless of whether Ryman files a motion to dismiss he is 4 preparing, whether he disagrees to facts being presented to 5 expose his clients conduct, or planning to use transcripts from 6 a nervous, scared, pro se, Deponent who gave answers as he 7 thought he understood (and there are Rules that govern this) 8 summary judgement is a matter of law. Not to be avoided
9 to free up space or act like you are interested in settling
10 to manipulate a continuance/extension that was objected
11 to. Ecf #175 has been filed. The Rules are clear.

Certificate of Service
